

An aerial photograph of a tropical island, likely in the Maldives, showing a resort complex with numerous buildings, a green lawn, and a swimming pool. The island is surrounded by a shallow lagoon with a white sandy beach and a large, dark reef area extending into the deep blue ocean. Two callout boxes are overlaid on the image: a red one on the left and a yellow one at the bottom. Red lines connect the red box to the reef area, and yellow lines connect the yellow box to the reef area.
